Allied Naval Demonstration Plans in Abeyance Until U. S. Views in Matter Are Received

Supreme Council Gratiified at Tenor of Note of Hughes to Germany.

FOCH READY FOR MARCH

Josephine of Ruhr Coal Basin Can Be Accomplished in Two Days; Three Months of Bringing Berlin Government to Terms Discussed by Council

By Associated Press.
LONDON, May 2.—Premier Briand this morning read the text of the note by Secretary of State Hughes to Germany, urging the government of that country to make clear, definite and adequate proposals to the Allied government. He said he was greatly pleased with the note.

LONDON, May 2.—The Allied Supreme Council today decided to take no action against Germany without consulting the United States.
This was agreed to after a rather full discussion by the council members with Admiral Beatty of England and Admiral Cresset of France regarding plans for naval pressure on Germany.
The committee of experts at this morning's session reported on the plan worked out concerning the guarantee to be demanded of Germany for payment of reparations and the council will consider it this afternoon.

Occupation of the Ruhr coal basin in the event this action should become necessary was considered by the council with the military representatives of the Allies. The council adjourned until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Four suggestions were examined by the council this morning, namely: blockade of the German ports, a partial blockade, a demonstration without a blockade and seizure of the customs receipts in German ports.

The unanimous opinion was that nothing further should be done concerning naval action until the views of the United States government were received and only as a last resort of occupation in the event that the occupation of Ruhr as carried out should not prove sufficient to cause a surrender by Germany.

Admiral Foch, who participated in the meeting, said he could enforce the Ruhr region with troops in one day and that only six or seven divisions would be necessary. The occupation could be completed the second day by sending patrols into the interior to take railway centers and strategic cross roads.

BERLIN, May 2.—The note of Secretary of State Hughes to the German government, replying to the German note proposing reparations, was received by Dr. Brüning, the foreign minister, at 11 o'clock this morning by Lord Bessell, the American ambassador here.

FRENCH MILITARY HEADQUARTERS May 2.—Plans for the occupation of the Ruhr valley, elaborated by the French general staff provide for the exclusive use of white troops. It was announced here today that the two Moroccan units which left Berlin last night in the direction of Düsseldorf did not proceed to that city. It was stated, but will be gar-guined elsewhere.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—In urging Germany to make at once "directly to the allied governments" adequate proposals on reparations, the American government was believed by the allied disposals here to have definitely closed the reparations incident so far as the United States was concerned.
In this case, officials decided to confer on the communication, saying that it spoke for itself and would indicate the consideration which could be dispatched somewhat unexpectedly at a late hour last night. It was stated, however, that action was taken without any communication having been received from the allied council at London.

Albanians and Greeks Clash Over Language In Religious Service

By Associated Press.
ATHENS, May 2.—Serious conflicts have occurred between Albanians and Greeks at Koritza. Eleven Greeks are reported to have been killed and many wounded. The incident was the result of a clash over the Greek orthodox church at Koritza. Albanians demanded that the service be conducted in Albanian language. In the conflict the Greek bishop disappeared.

Must Live Within Means.
WASHINGTON, May 2.—President Harris launched a drive today against what he termed the "dangerous tendency" of government departments to live beyond the means provided for them by Congress and substantiated reports for deficiency appropriations.

FOUR KILLED IN MAY DAY RIOT IN ARGENTINA TOWN

Workers in Parade Clash With Members of Procession Staged by Patriotic League.

By Associated Press.
BUENOS AIRES, May 2.—Four persons were killed and 24 wounded in a riot at Gualeguaychú, a city in northeastern Argentina, on May Day.

This was the only serious disorder in this country during the observance of the day and occurred when a parade of workers clashed with one formed by the local chapter of the Argentine Patriotic League.

Hibbs, George Orval Rush and J.

council relative to repairs to the Crawford Avenue bridge over the river.

POLICE MAKE RAID

Patrolmen Humbertson and Ritchie Arrest Six Persons in Baldwin Ave.

Two women and four men were arrested yesterday afternoon in a raid on an alleged disorderly house in Baldwin Avenue. Patrolmen Bert Ritchie and C. E. Humbertson made the arrests. Persons in the neighborhood had complained about the house and it had been under police surveillance for some time.

Those arrested were Rae Miller, alias Della Carson, Mrs. Ada Anderson, Charles Miller, Edgar Steinhorn, Thomas Anderson and John J. Smith.
The two women paid forfeits of $25 each and the other inmates were assessed $10 each. They promised to leave the city.

ISSUES WARNING

Fake Employment Agents Operating
State Official Says.

HARRISBURG, May 2.—Warning to mayors, burgesses, chiefs of police, employers and employees to look out for what are termed "crooked and false employment agents," was issued today by C. D. Connolly, commissioner of labor and industry, as a result of reports reaching him that men are being told they can secure work in distant places upon payment of fees and transportation charges.

Mr. Connolly says in both Philadelphia and Pittsburgh men engaged in such practices have been arrested.

o'clock. An intensive campaign has been conducted since yesterday noon, when the men gathered at a business lunch to complete plans for the final push.

The workers have done fairly well but it is expected the total will result quite a boost when today's report is made. All membership expired last Saturday, April 30.

PAROLE IS TO BE DENIED RECKLESS MOTOR DRIVERS

Judge Van Swearingen So Announces in Heavily Flaging Two.

GIVEN YEAR TO PRISON

Later Part of Sentence Will Be Resulted After 11th Month in Event of Payment of Fine and Compensation Adoption of Child Approved.

In passing sentence this morning at the weekly session of court in Uniontown, on Leslie Bowden and Albert Kigan for reckless operation of an automobile, Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen declared that no parole would be considered in such cases. The defendants were alleged to have run down Bathur Wadsworth at Brier Hill.

The court imposed a fine of $250 each and compensation of $75 each and ordered them committed to the Allegheny county work-house for a year, with the understanding that the prison sentence will be remitted if the fine, costs and compensation are paid.

An order of court was made for the adoption by Herman and Mary E.
Walker of Connellsville of Dorothy Mae Gibbons, minor child of John C.
Gibbons. The mother died some time ago leaving several children. Since then Dorothy has been cared for by the Walkers. The father agreed to the adoption.

Charles Detemple of Connellsville was called to court for violation of his parole and eight months added to the time he will be under restriction.
Detemple pleaded guilty, along with two others, to larceny and was sentenced to pay the costs and remain in custody of the parole office until February, 1922. In January he went to Chicago and for four months he failed to report. The court doubled the time of his absence and added it to the parole period.

Walter Greenleaf of Pittsburgh was sentenced to pay $35 a month to Mrs.
Russell Shanberger, a daughter, for the support of another daughter, Eleanor, who has been cared for by Mrs. Shanberger since the father deserted them seven years ago and since which time he was testified; he had contributed but $22 for the support of Eleanor.
Mrs. Shanberger also supported her mother to the time of her death.

PRESSMEN STRIKE

Eight Hundred Job Office Workers Demand Shorter Week.

By Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, May 2.—Eight Hundred pressmen, press feeders and bookbinders went on strike today when their demand for a 44-hour week was refused. The strike of the men employed in the three craft lines up almost completely the printing industry here as the printers themselves are on strike.

HARRISBURG, May 2.—Pressmen at the state printing office went on a sympathetic strike at the printers today but the binders remained at work.

ESCAPES ELECTROCUTION

Greensburg Lihomun Survives After 2,200 Volts Pass Through Body.

Harry Gehring, 21 years old, of Greensburg, a hobo, was in the West Penn Light company in Greensburg had a narrow escape from death yesterday when 2,200 volts of electricity passed through his body while he was working at that of a 35-foot pole in Greensburg.

Pedestrians were horrified to see his body pitch forward and then dangle limply, head down. In order to release the body the high tension wire had to be cut. Gehring is expected to recover.

Board Fined on Unending

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 2.—
The Morgantown board of education today issued a formal statement giving its reasons for declining to allow its order forbidding teachers attending dances during the school year.

Teachers who attend dances will not be employed next year, the statement reiterated.

"Death Legionnaires" on Trial.
VIRGINIA, May 2.—Trial of 130 officers of the old Austrian army who are charged with conspiracy began yesterday. They were members of the "Death Legion" which was formed ostensibly to offer military service to authorities called into the case, learning that an unidentified man who had died at the city hospital was Minhoney.

TROUBLE BREWS IN UPPER SILESIA OVER PLEBISCITE DISPUTE

Polish Government Issues Proclamation Condemning Reported Inter-Allied Recommendation.

By Associated Press.
WARSAW, May 2.—Trouble is reported brewing in the Upper Silesia because of the rumored recommendation by the Inter-Allied commission that Germany may be given all the plebiscite areas except Rybnik and Pless.

The newspapers announce a spontaneous insurrectionary movement in various industrial districts in favor of Poland.

The news reaching here is somewhat indefinite because telephone communication has been interrupted at the Silesian end.

Extra editions of the newspapers publish a proclamation by the Polish plebiscite commission criticizing the reported decision of the Allied commission which, it contends, would be unfair to Poland on the basis of the plebiscite figures.

HUMP CREW RESTORED

Is Sign of Increased Activity in Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

Gradual resumption of business on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad has been noticeable recently and it has grown to such an extent that the "hump" crew has been added to the third shift in the local yards. Several other crews not called out for several months are also working now, it is reported.

Railroad men point to the personnel of the crews as an indication of the big cut made in employees. Practically all engines, they say, are managed by two engineers, one acting as fireman.

enterprising thieves undermined the place.

leged that her husband had threatened to kill her with a bat-hut. He became drunk when he drank, she said.

was shifted in last night.

Outstanding Naval Failure of War Was Not to Have Bottled German U-Boats in Their Nests Earlier

After every war one can look back and see that somewhere there was lack of foresight, somewhere there was wanting vision translated into action, somewhere there was failure to grasp a new and daring plan which might have turned defeat into victory or have hastened the day of peace.

When one reflects upon the zeal, courage and success of the British navy in freeing the seven seas from German traffic, one is filled with admiration for its spirit and achievements. But it made mistakes, as we and all the other navies, did.

Over on this side of the ocean what was our chief naval error?
It was that we lacked the foresight in 1915-16, largely because we did not have the information which was kept from neutrals, to concentrate upon the building of destroyers to the exclusion of larger ships. To be sure, we were utilizing before the United States entered the war every available facility for the building of destroyers.

More Destroyers Needed.
The great three-year program proposed by me in 1915 and voted by Congress in 1916 embraced 50 destroyers to be constructed in three years, along with 16 capital ships and 10 scout cruisers.

Looking back upon that program, it is clear now, taking advantage of what we learned during the war, that it would have been wiser to have delayed contracting for so many capital ships and built hundreds of destroyers, and built more effective against submarines. Our ship construction program during the war included approximately 50 destroyers.

last Legislature and approved by the governor. Teachers' holding state certificates come under this law. A few will get $100 more for the term and some will receive only $6.25 more for the year.

Supplies for the next term were also ordered, a number of firms placing bids before the board.

Citizens Press Springfield Road Paving Project

Connellsville and Mill Run men interested in the success of the Springfield road paving project paid a visit to the county commissioners in Uniontown yesterday to urge that the contract for the work be awarded when the bids are opened at Harrisburg May 10. They conferred with Commissioners George W. Hibbs and George Orval Rush, commissioners at Seagrath Marshall being absent. They were assured, they said, that the commissioners would do what they could and promise was made that if two bids are submitted, and the price is within reason they will urge the awarding of the contract.

In the party were A. C. Stickle, Meyer Aaron, George Blackstone, T.
J. Hooper, J. Leaphorn Hyatt, Stanton
B. Dull and John S. Miller of Connellsville and Frank B. Livingston, W. S. Colburn and George S. Rowan of Mill Run. Normalville was the scene of a reception by a delegation named for that place but failed to join the party.

There is talk of reorganizing the Connellsville Automobile club for the purpose of pressing the matter of the improvement of a road.
It has been explained that the reason the bid recently opened was rejected was because there was no competitive bidding.

Kephart Receives Gift.
Upon his retirement from the office

Charm of Motherhood

THERE are many homes once childless that now are blessed with healthy, happy children, because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored the mother to a healthy, normal physical condition.

The following letters give the experience of two young women and prove the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such cases.

Chicago, Ill.—"I was always tired, my head always ached, and my back ached until I could hardly stand the pain. I doctored for years, and the doctor said nothing but an operation would help me, and that I could not have children. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles of it and it helped me wonderfully, and I now have a fine baby boy, thanks to what your medicine did for me in restoring my health. I can highly recommend the Compound to all women who suffer from female ills."—Mrs. Wm. Reiss, 304 Willow St., Chicago, Ill.

Marinette, Wis.—"I was in a very nervous condition, was irregular, and could not have any children. I took doctor's medicine without success, and he advised an operation. My husband brought me one of your booklets and asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon felt benefited by its use, became regular, and now we have a fine baby girl after having been married nine years. I am always glad to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends who suffer from such troubles."—Mrs. H. B. Held, 380 Jefferson St., Marinette, Wis.

ERNEST AND HOBART FISHER ARE SIGNED BY THE COKER INDEPENDENTS FOR SEASON

Both Boys Showed up Well in Games Last Season; Can Perform With Bat.

FRICK LEAGUE TO OPEN

The first official announcement concerning the personnel of the Connellsville Independents was made today when the names of Ernest and Hobart Fisher, infielder and outfielder, respectively, were given out. The two brothers are well known in local ball circles, always having been great lovers of the game and good players as well.

Ernie, as he is known to the fans, plays either second base or shortstop. He appeared in both these positions last year but in all probability he will find a regular berth at second this season.

Hobart generally appeared in the outfield last season although at times he was moved into the inner circle when "Ho" was needed. His batting ability was a big asset to the Independents and he generally appeared as the lead-off man. A case in point of the season he made 10 consecutive hits before his game was broken. Hobart because he is well known through semi-pro circles for his hitting ability that a few scouts wandered in to watch him playing. He is also adept at base running, being a very feet-footed lad.

The West Penn baseball team is "budding" late this season. Nothing has yet been heard from that nine.

The game closest home in the Frick league tonight will be at Davidson, where Bitner is the attraction. The Frick season opens today.

Of the Pirates' camp on winning Connellsville will be described about next October. The whole city seems to be counting on seeing a world series real close to home.

The Buccaners hung up another victory yesterday, Chicago again being the victim. The Cubs were one to the good at the close of the sixth but Gaby's men tied it up in the seventh and scored the winning tally in the eighth.

YOUNG VALLEY PLAYS

Frank Tarr's Young Valley Independents will open the season tomorrow evening with Leisening No. 3 at the latter place. Saturday afternoon the Young Valley nine will meet the Collinsburg Independents at Dickerson Run. Some day next week the Independents will play Trotter, Dick Stry's Collegians, from Pittsburg, will

GORE WAS STAR OUTFIELDER

Old-Time National League Player Held Record of Circling Bases—Was Hard Hitter.

George Gore was a famous outfielder who played with the Chicago and New York teams of the National League back in the '80s. Gore was usually fast on his feet and held a record of turning the circuit in 14 seconds. From 1890 until 1901, Gore played 1,225 games in the big league and crossed the plate with 1,360 runs, an average of 1.08 per game. Billy Hamilton, who was with the Philadelphia and Boston Nationals, from 1898 until 1901, played 1,676 big league games, in which he scored 1,708 runs, an average of 1.02 per game. Both possessed a little batting average better than .300.

Gus Gardella, veteran infielder, out of the game last year, has been signed by the Pittsburg Eastern league club.

JOHN MCGRAW HAS MADE LARGE FORTUNE IN PAST FEW YEARS

John McGraw has been touched by Midas' wand and now finds himself on financial levels that were beyond his fondest dreams when he first entered the portals of professional baseball.

Not only is he one of the owners of the most valuable franchise in baseball, but he also is a part owner of the Oriental race track at Havana, Cuba, which is said to have netted more than $1,000,000 during the winter season at the Cuban capital. He is one of the partners of Charles Stoneham & Co., one of the leading brokerage firms on Wall street. He is the owner of several apartment houses along Riverside drive, and his financial interests are spreading out.

In the meantime he is proving himself the same leader and same fighter among the financial giants he always was among the ball playing Giants. Some men are born to be led, while others are born to lead, and John J. McGraw is one of the latter type.

DELAY BOTTLING U-BOATS WAS BIG FAILURE OF WAR

promisingly a thousand vessels. This in addition to the 1,547 ships converted for naval purposes.

There was no delay in pressing work on destroyers. Immediately after Congress authorized the three-year program, contracts were made for the 20 authorized the first year, as well as for 27 submarines, four battle ships, four battle cruisers and other vessels. In March, 1917, before we entered the war, as soon as funds were available, 24 more were ordered; additional orders were given as rapidly as the contracts could be placed and by the middle of October we were building or had contracted for 276.

All Records Broken.

Millions had to be spent for new facilities to build them—enlargement of old ship yards, building of giant new plants. It was a great job, but we broke all records in rapid construction when we struck our sail. The House Naval committee, after thorough investigation, said in its report made March 4, 1918:

"When it came to building additional destroyers, especially those of the large program, it was found that the ship-building facilities of the country were fully absorbed with the vessels then under construction and it would be necessary to create new facilities. The plans adopted required more than doubling the capacity available last summer for building destroyers, and that capacity was materially greater than before the war. In spite of speed in construction, these vessels are not being aligned in workmanly or appliances."

Experts Didn't See It.

Looking back, I wished every day during the war that when we began the big naval expansion in 1915 we had asked Congress for the money to build 300 destroyers at that time. By concentration in 1915-16, we would have had most of them ready in the first months of the war. It is a fact, however, that no naval expert and nobody in Congress suggested omitting the capital ships and pushing the big destroyer program we began in the stress of war.

Across the seas what was the great naval error of our allies?

Some of the ablest writers declare that it was the tactics of Admiral Jellicoe at the battle of Jutland.

The admiral has written a most interesting book undertaking to show that his method of fighting the battle was right, when all the conditions are considered. The admiral is a brave and learned officer, and a gentleman of charm and real stuff, but he made the mistake of his life when he wrote his story of the grand fleet.

"Confession and Avoidance."

I read it on my way to Europe in March, 1919, and began it with a feeling that Admiral Jellicoe had been harshly and unjustly treated by the critics. But, when I had read the last chapter, my feeling was the same as that of a distinguished Englishman whom I met a few weeks later and who said to me:

"For his own reputation Jellicoe ought not to have written that book. At the best it is a plea of confession and avoidance."

The basis for this opinion lies in the fact that the admiral charges his failure to win a decisive victory to the superiority of the German in certain material (and to the low visibility that prevailed) whereas the admiral had told the world that in the battle of Jutland, Great Britain, as well as all other nations—and Jellicoe had directed its material division.

Commander Bellairs, U. S. N., may be too severe in his criticism of Admiral Jellicoe, but all who are interested in the naval history of the war should read both Jellicoe's and Bellairs'—and I hope we will be able to read some day Jellicoe in rejoinder to Bellairs.

Facts to Controversy.

The crux of the battle is: Should Jellicoe have turned the whole fleet at 230 because a hostile enemy destroyer supported by a cruiser was observed on a bearing S. 50 degrees West, "Iron Duke" Bellairs says, and to avoid this attack of 17 destroyers, 27 battleships turned back. It is impossible, Bellairs says, to imagine a more definite order than the whole spirit of naval tradition, or from its practice, united to modern inventions, of the golden rule of naval strategy is sighted to make a fleet of closely engaged and mutually supporting destroyers and destroyers. Our cruisers and destroyers, when they could be pressed into service, were the only ships in the van. I have read this time in the van, I have read this time in the van, I have read this time in the van.

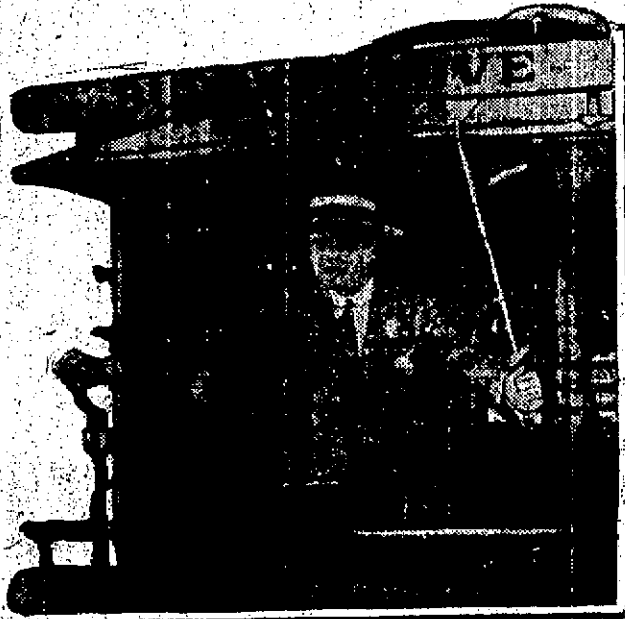

Admiral Jellicoe went to command of the British grand fleet after long and honorable service in the admiralty. In that the reason why he placed himself above sailing? The doctrine of "a fleet being" had long been upheld by the admiralty. Admiral Jellicoe was the victory of the world's greatest naval power, the ability of the British fleet to prevent the escape of the German fleet to the high seas. If he had been sailing after the enemy fleet, he would have been defeated. He was not due to his long shore experience and his intense conviction that he must at all hazards preserve his superiority in ships on the sea.

On Shore too Long.

I remember some years ago that a British naval officer, who stood high in the service, went in command of a ship. He had been years of shore duty. He was "putting on" I think the answer is plain and easily understood now by both expert and layman. It was the failure to direct at the beginning of the submarine warfare in 1914-15, effective barriers across the North sea and Afterward that officer, highly esteemed, was plucked.

When the time came for the United States Navy to enter active war service, even before the declaration of war, I gave the positions of greatest importance about to men of the long and latest experience. At sea, Mayo in command of our forces at home and abroad, Richmond in command of our headquarters in the North sea, Wilson, first in charge of the patrol squadron and later in command of the French coast, protecting our transatlantic lines in command of the cruiser and transport force, guarding and carrying our mail, and overseeing Rogers in command of the great fleet of German raiders of the British and French coasts, and others of long seagoing experience.

Greatest Error of All.

What was the biggest naval error of the war committed by the allies? I think the answer is plain and easily understood now by both expert and layman. It was the failure to direct at the beginning of the submarine warfare in 1914-15, effective barriers across the North sea and English channel, in the Mediterranean and at the entrance to the Atlantic sea. It should have been directed to this end, sinkings by submarines would have been greatly lessened and ended long before the combined naval forces were equal to the big job of making U-boat warfare unsafe.

The deeds of the destroyers and other naval craft glorify the World War. But if the day war was declared—as the first naval offensive in that sense—the French and British had made the change from Dover to Calais impossible, of passage by an enemy submarine that would have been supreme and effective strategy.

If baronage, high and low, afterward laid across the North sea, had been directed there and across the straits of Otranto, the U-boats would have been so humiliated in that struggle that she could not hope to win the war by their use. Millions of tons of shipping would have been saved, and it would have changed the whole trend of the war at sea.

Errors in Plenty.

There were plenty of errors—navy and army—on both sides of the Atlantic—errors made by able and patriotic men, as there always are. Some will ask: Why should errors be discussed now that the war is over, and all the allied and associated powers did so well? Admiral Beatty furnishes the answer in these words:

"We make many mistakes, and it is our business today to see that the lessons have been taken to heart, and that we shall not again be found in such a state that we have to face the greatest crisis in history with improvised methods, working from hand to mouth. It may be said that the result was good enough with such methods, but was it? We have surely no right to continue to rely on improvisations. We in the navy know well our defects and it is our business to face them, to leave no stone unturned to avoid a repetition of the mistakes from which we have suffered in the past."

FOUR.

"My dear fellow, I told you we'd get here somehow," Hugh Drummond stretched his legs luxuriously. "The fact that it was necessary to crash your blinking bus in a stray field in order to avoid their fooling passenger regulations is absolutely immaterial. The only damage is a dent in Ted's lucky, but all the best writers have that. They smear it with soap to show their energy. . . . My God! Here's another of them."

A Frenchman was advancing toward them down the stately vestibule of the Ritz, waving protesting hands. He addressed himself in a valuable croak to Drummond, who rose and bowed deeply. His knowledge of French was microscopic, but such trifles were made to be overcome.

"The Frenchman produced a notebook. 'Votre nom, M'sieur, s'il vous plait.' 'Undoubtedly, mon Colonel,' replied Hugh vaguely. 'Nons crassez pas.' 'He wants your name, old dear,' murmured Jerry weakly.

"He does he?" Hugh beamed on the gentleman. "You priceless little bird! My name is Captain Hugh Drummond."

And as he spoke, a man sitting close by, who had been an amused onlooker of the whole scene, suddenly stepped into his chair and stared hard at Hugh. It was only for a second, and then he was once more merely the politely interested spectator. But Hugh had seen that quick look, though he gave no sign; and when at last the Frenchman departed, apparently satisfied, he leaned over and spoke to Jerry.

"See that man with the hat of hand-me-downs and the check?" he remarked. "He's in the game; I'm just wondering on which side."

"He was not left long in doubt, for barely had the swing doors closed behind the gentleman, when the man in question rose and came over to him.

"Excuse me, sir," he said, in a pronounced nasal twang. "But I heard you say you were Captain Hugh Drummond. I guess you're one of the men I've come across the water to see. My card."

Hugh glanced at the pasteboard languidly. "Mr. Jerome K. Green," he murmured. "What a jolly sort of name."

"See here, Captain," went on the other, suddenly displaying a badge hidden under his coat. "That'll put you wise. That badge is the badge of the police force of the United States of America; and that same force is humming close at the moment."

He sat down beside Hugh, and bent forward confidentially. "There's a prominent citizen of New York city behind him, Captain; and from information we've got, we reckon you know quite a lot about his whereabouts. What about Hiram O. Potts?"

"What, indeed?" remarked Hugh. "Sounds like a riddle, don't it?"

"You've heard of him, Captain?"

"You people have not," said the detective, leaning forward. "You know where he is, and—he tapped Hugh on the knee impressively—"I want him. I want to take him back in cottonwool to his wife and daughters. That's why I'm over on this side, Captain. Just for that one purpose."

"There seems to me to be a considerable number of people wandering around who share your opinion about Mr. Potts," drawled Hugh. "He must be a popular sort of cove."

"Popular ain't the word for it, Cap."

Treatment of Common Colds. "If all who catch cold could be persuaded to remain in bed for the first 24 hours of such an attack," says a well known physician, "there would be fewer cases dragging on with distressing symptoms for weeks and often ending in some more serious disease." To make sure of a prompt recovery you should also take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Whether sick or well the bowels should move each day.—Adv.

SUFFERED 10 YEARS WITH INDIGESTION

After Taking Vinol Could Eat Anything; Stomach Trouble Gone.

Akron, Ohio.—"For 10 years I suffered from stomach trouble and indigestion. I could not eat or sleep. I took different kinds of medicines, but did not get any relief until I took Vinol. I did so and immediately noticed improvement. I have taken several bottles of Vinol and can eat anything and it does not hurt me. I can truthfully say Vinol is the best medicine in the world and it is worth its weight in gold."—L. De Haven, 41 South High street, Akron, Ohio.

Vinol creates a hearty appetite, aids digestion, enriches the blood with thousands of red corpuscles and in this natural manner imparts health, strength and vitality. $1.00 per bottle. Langhrey Drug Co.—Adv.

"Do they vary?" "In England he is clean-shaven, possesses a daughter, and answers to Carl Peterson. As he is at present I should never have known him, but for that little trick of his."

"Possesses a daughter?" For the first time the detective displayed traces of excitement. "Holy Smoke! It can't be him!"

"Who?" demanded Drummond. "But the other did not answer. Out of the corner of his eye he was watching three men who had just joined the subject of their talk, and on his face was a gleaming amusement. He waited till the whole party had gone into the restaurant, then, throwing aside his caution, he turned excitedly on Drummond.

"Are you certain," he cried, "that that's the man who has been monkeying with Potts?"

"Absolutely," said Hugh. "He recognized me; whether he thinks I recognized him or not, I don't know."

"That was," remarked the detective, "is he doing here doing with Hecking, our cotton trust man; with Stenemann, the German coal man; and with that other guy whose face is familiar, but whose name I can't place? Two of 'em at any rate, Captain, have got more millions than we've ever likely to have thousands."

"Hugh stared at the American. 'Last night,' he said slowly, 'he was foregathered with a crowd of the most atrocious rascals—trousered revolutionaries last night. What do you mean exactly?'"

"Believe me, Anarchists, members of the I. W. O. work and have all the money brigade," answered Hugh. "But excuse me a moment, Walter. A man who had been hovering round came up promptly."

A TRUE STATEMENT Regarding Prices in the Dry Goods Department

With a very few exceptions, practically all merchandise advertised in our 1921 February Sale of White showed reductions of 25, 33 1-3 and even 50% on the prices of February, 1920. Certain merchandise showed reductions of 66 2-3%.

Now, in our 1921 May Sale of White, certain of our staples have been reduced still lower, showing savings of 7 1-2 to 33 1-3% on the February, '21, prices. Percales, standard 80x80 count, was 50c the yard, February '20. In our 1921 February sale, it was advertised at 35c, and now in this May Sale of White, it is 25c the yard. Bleached sheets have also gone down again. February, 1920, 81x90-bleached sheets were $2.85 each; February, 1921, the same size and quality sheet was $1.55. Today it is $1.49. Linen Damask, silk hosiery, wash satin—in fact, practically all plain silk and cotton fabrics have dropped considerably since February, 1921.

All linens are ONE-THIRD less now than they were last February. IT IS OUR PURPOSE, SO FAR AS IS POSSIBLE, TO BUY OUR MERCHANDISE AT SUCH TIMES AND PRICES AS WILL GIVE OUR CUSTOMERS THE BENEFIT OF EVERY REDUCTION—TO GIVE THEM THEIR PURCHASES AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE COST.

Read This Advertisement Carefully

Come, look over our quality merchandise, and note the prices—lower, in many instances, than today's wholesale quotations.
